ABOUT US

Our Products

Fresh, housemade, no preservatives.

We believe in only selling products we would feed to our own family – the freshest dim sum made with quality ingredients and no preservatives. The dim sum you find in many supermarkets and restaurants often use strange additives and will blend various parts of an animal (e.g. chicken skin in xiao long bao). We will never compromise on quality to lower costs.

You win some, you dim sum.

Our Team

Our dim sum is handmade by our in-house chef Bill, supported by his wife Ting. Bill has been making dim sum for over 30 years, working as the executive dim sum chef at yum cha restaurants across Sydney.

Our Story

We're a small family business who started out by selling dim sum at a market stall. Our customers kept coming back for more so we've since opened up a shop to try and keep up with demand. We currently sell frozen dim sum directly to customers to take home and cook, and supply to restaurants in Sydney.

Note that all our products contain, or may have traces of: wheat, gluten, soy, sesame, and peanuts.
